

Cast to TV - Screen Mirroring

Screen mirroring is a really useful tool to have, especially while watching something on your TV. Screen mirroring, whether it is for video or photos, allows you to view them on a larger TV screen. You can use screen mirroring to wirelessly project the content presently displayed on your smartphone, tablet, or computer screen to another screen. It enables it by transmitting a copy of your complete screen in real time to the target device.

What is Cast to TV?

Cast to TV is another name for screen mirroring, it mirrors your smartphone's display on TV. What that means is what you see on one screen, appears exactly on another screen.

When Cast to TV is Useful?

The first and most important feature of screen mirroring is that it removes the need for users to connect both devices (main and secondary screens) to the same Wi-Fi network. As a result, it's great if you don't have Wi-Fi nearby but still want to see content on a larger screen.

What is Screen Casting?

Screen casting is similar to screen mirroring in that it involves projecting the content from a smaller screen to a larger display, but it does not mirror items like screen mirroring. Here, make sure to connect both smartphone and TV or PC with the same WIFI network.
